Hello All You Wonderful People,

Well, I think the weather has started to act like its spring. Although, as soon as I take all my indoor plants outdoors (about 35 of them – some almost as high as the ceiling) we get a freeze-frost warning and it goes down too far when I'm still trying to harden the plants so they can stay outside for the summer. Oh, well, that's actually how you're supposed to do it. Take them in and out for a while so they can gradually harden to the outdoors. They ought to be doing really well in a couple of weeks. (I hope!)

I had lots of calls and emails on the 2009 Calendar design – so it's ready to go this month. It's designed to be put on one of the Flour Sack Towels (P327/P328).

You can center it – put it at the top – put it at the bottom, whichever way you want.

I designed four (4) different 2009's so you have a choice on that, also.

When you iron on the actual calendar, make sure you iron it on nice and dark. You can use the Dual Point Pens (C490) to add color even to the numbers and letters.

I went through the transfers and picked out some suggestions to put around the actual calendar. T4496-T44280T4525-T4536-T4597-T4651-T4730-T4745-T4600-T4650-T4648-T4535-T4545-T4532-T4709- or how about some of the small transfers that came with the quilt blocks the last couple of years. You can use these transfers alone or mix them together for some really interesting design concepts.

I'm sure that those of you that are getting ready for craft shows will have a wonderful time playing and those of you that plan on giving them as gifts can make some one-of-a-kind designs to give.

I hope you all have fun playing with these. I know that I have about ten (10) that I want to make for Christmas gifts. That will be lots of different designs for different households.

Let's have a Towel Special (TS1) to kick this great idea off. (*By-the-way, I want to thank my sister Yvonne in Knoxville, TN for this idea. She basically asked me where she could get a towel with calendar to paint. It just escalated from there.) We'll take a P328 – Flour Sack Towel 10 PK and ten (10) 2009 Calendar Transfers – T4765- that would normally be a retail price of $34.00 and mark it down to $30.00. I'll run this special for May and June.

Monthly Special

My young man in Canada has been doing more pen and ink drawings. When he finished this one, he thought of us and sent it to me to make into a transfer. I think all you people out there that like butterflies and/or southwest will really like the new T4763 – Southwest Butterfly. It will go on a shirt, on a pillowcase (P1594/P1595), on a Mini Flag (P322) or as in this month's MSMAY09 special – on a Throw Pillow Cover – P1482.

The retail price on this special would be $7.60 – the special sale price is $7.25.

The next Monthly Workshop to be held here – will be June 12th at 11:00 AM.

~~October Seminar 2008~~ ~~October Seminar 2008~~ will be moved to the first Saturday in October (4th)
(I keep messing this date up. This is the right date.)

Quite a few folks asked for the change. So the 'October Seminar 2008' will be on October 4th. We're hoping this will make it warmer during the Seminar.

There will be a few changes this year that I know of. We will have an hour of ironing time the first thing in the morning so folks can get that done in a timely manner. (That way the classes themselves will go quicker.)

According to what the classes are (and I have no idea yet) we might have them already ironed on for you.

I'm thinking maybe a multi-transfer class on the Wall Hanging (P324) and I think there will definitely need to be a brush painting class (just because it's so much fun with our new Fabric Brushes (C460).

Hopefully we will have a new 'Linen' – but it's still in the works for now. I'm thinking of bringing out a grocery bag. It would be about the size of a large brown paper bag like you get at the grocery store – with short handles so you can carry it down at your side. What do you think? Do you have suggestions for this? (I need all the help I can get you know.)

There will be an evening class for those that want to stay for it.

I have found that I don't have enough time to teach everything that needs to be taught – so I figured that we would try it that way this year.
