Hello All You Wonderful People,

Wow! What a nice holiday. John and I had a really good time. We had a cook-out. The weather was awful. It was over 90 degrees and humid. In other words, it was great for the kids to play in the two wading pools that I had out, but bad for the adults that were keeping an eye on them.

We had friends and family over for the good cook-out. Of course, I don't cook, so we have to have one of the guests cook. They don't seem to mind and it works out just fine. We have good food and good conversation.

I bought a few fireworks just for the kids. It didn't have to be dark to set them off. There were nice little fountains, smoke bombs in different colors, sparklers and turtle races that raced away on jet propulsion and had sparkles coming out of their heads. All-in-all, I think everyone enjoyed them and the adults enjoyed the kids enjoying them.

Jan Smyth gave me a great dragon kite at the May Seminar and like dummies, my youngest daughter, Mysti, and I went running around try to get it high enough in the air to stay up once the wind gusts died down. We had a lot of fun and just about passed out from the heat – but the younger kids loved watching us. We got the kite up several times, but couldn't keep it up. I'll have to try it at a time we have consistent wind out there. Thanks, Jan!!!

Since I'm still recovering from the heat exhaustion that I caused myself – this newsletter is going out even later in the month than I thought it would.

I have to admit that I had a lot of painting to do to get it ready to go.

T5061 – Old Fashioned Christmas – has eight (8) different designs in it. These are each about 8" x 10". I put them on a nightshirt for the holiday season. They would be great on a P1224 or P1225. They could, also, be put on P328 – Flour Sack Towels. How about putting them on a tablecloth, (P1221, P1222 or P1223), for the holidays? You could, also, put them on P322 – Mini Flags or P324 – Wallhangings. You could put multiple designs on the Wallhangings.

T5062 – Kid's Designs 1 – has a bunch of transfers of different sizes. I put the six (6) little animal train designs on onesies. They fit just right. The kitten with hearts, the teddy bear with balloons, 'some bunny special' and the 'hug me' designs are on larger children's sweatshirts. These designs can be done for kids or by kids. I was thinking adults could work on them this summer for holiday gifts or to sell in craft shows – or kids could work on them this summer for holiday gifts and to keep them busy on those days that they have to stay in the house (because of the heat or the rain).

T5063 – Kachina Dancers 2 – this is the next set of Kachina Dancers. I'm putting them on a cardigan. So far I have gotten all eight (8) to fit. I don't know if I can get the next set of four (4) to all fit on the same cardigan – but it sure is colorful. I will use one of the edging designs that come with the Paks to do the button-hole strip down the front and around the neck. That should marry it all together and add to the Indian 'feel'. These could, also, be used to make a matching sheets and pillow case set. That would be great! I might do that, too.

First you had a 'Cuddler' for the little kids, now I'm starting a 'Cuddler' for the big kids.

The Antique Carr Cuddler (ACC) is on candlelight material. This is an older design that a lot of you new folks haven't seen before. I think there are a lot of you that need things with antique cars on them to use. Well...here they are.

Not only can you make a 'Cuddler' out of them – but putting them on t-shirts and sweatshirts would be good, too. Or, how about on a Mini Flag (C322) for the apartment door of someone that wants to show off their first car? There are a lot of old car buffs out there, male and female, young and old. Show off these designs and find out who they are – then make them something that they will love to display or wear.

We're now on Facebook. When you go on the web site, right on the Home page is a 'button' to click on to take you to the "Ginger's Cameo" page. Feel free to make comments and suggestions on there. Join in the discussions and make suggestions for other topics to cover.

I have a discussion going on next year's monthly quilt block suggestions. Let me know what you think.

I will be starting a discussion later this week on being a dealer, an instructor, or a distributor. What questions do you have on starting your own business with Cameo?

If I'm late getting the newsletter out for whatever reasons, you can order anything that is on the web site and for those of you that are ordering the Quilts of the Month blocks, you can order the next month's whether you have gotten a newsletter or not.

The heat doesn't seem to be going to stabilize any time in the near future – so I won't be functioning very well during these times. That means everything just gets farther and farther behind. Bear with me – it will get better. I have faith.

I will continue showing the Baby Stuffed Animals quilt for the next couple of months. You can order it as a full quilt under BSA'10 for $15.00 or continue ordering the pieces that you don't have yet. In January it will go on the Quilt Pages and not be available to order by the piece. Then you can only order it as a whole set.
